

Author Guidelines

Making Society Vibrant

All the submitted manuscript will be checked for Plagiarism and scientific content by the Editorial board.

General Guidelines

Manuscripts for Research Articles submitted to IJFRHS should be divided into the following sections (in this order):

1. Title page
2. Abstract
3. Keywords
4. Background
5. Materials & Methods
6. Results and discussion
7. Conclusions
8. List of abbreviations used (if any)
9. Competing interests
10. Authors' contributions
11. Acknowledgements
12. References

For Review, Newsletters, Short communications appropriate sections must be used.

Title page

The title page must include “the title of the article” list the full names, institutional addresses and email addresses for all authors indicate the corresponding author with the mark*

Please note: abbreviations within the title should be avoided.

Abstract

The Abstract of the manuscript should not exceed 300 words and must be structured into separate sections: (do not cite references in the abstract).

Keywords

Three to Ten keywords may be given

Background

This section should be written in a way that it is easily accessible to researchers without any specialist knowledge in that area and must clearly state – and, if helpful, illustrate – the background to the research and its aims. The section should end with a brief statement of what is being reported in the article. Any schematic diagram or Table must be kept in appropriate place in the text itself and with suitable numbering.

Materials & Methods

The methods section should include the design of the study, the type of materials involved, a clear description of all comparisons, and the type of analysis used, to enable replication.

Results and discussion

The Results and discussion may be combined into a single section or presented separately. The Results and discussion sections may also be broken into subsections with short, informative headings.

Conclusions

This should say clearly the main conclusions of the research and give a clear cut explanation of their importance and relevance. Summary illustrations may be included.

List of abbreviations

If abbreviations are used in the text they should be defined in the text at first use, and a list of abbreviations can be provided, which should precede the competing interests and authors' contributions.

Competing interests

A competing interest exists when your interpretation of data or presentation of information may be influenced by your personal or financial relationship with other people or organizations. Authors must disclose any financial competing interests; Where an author gives no competing interests, the listing will read 'The author(s) declare that they have no competing interests'.

Authors' contributions

An 'author' is generally considered to be someone who has made substantive intellectual contributions to a published study. To qualify as an author one should 1) have made substantial contributions to conception and design, or acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data; 2) have been involved in drafting the manuscript or revising it critically for important intellectual content; and 3) have given final approval of the version to be published. Each author should have participated sufficiently in the work to take public responsibility for appropriate portions of the content. Acquisition of funding, collection of data, or general supervision of the research group, alone, does not justify authorship.

All contributors who do not meet the criteria for authorship should be listed in an acknowledgements section. Examples of those who might be acknowledged include a person who provided purely technical help, writing assistance, or a department chair who provided only general support. Provide the scanned copy of the duly filled Author's contribution form along with the manuscript.

Acknowledgements

Please acknowledge anyone who contributed towards the article by making substantial contributions to conception, design, acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data, or who was involved in drafting the manuscript or revising it critically for important intellectual content, but who does not meet the criteria for authorship.

References

All references, including URLs, must be numbered consecutively, in square brackets, in the order in which they are cited in the text, followed by any in tables or legends. Each reference must have an individual reference number. Please avoid excessive referencing. If automatic numbering systems are used, the reference numbers must be finalized and the bibliography must be fully formatted before submission.

Ex:

Pattern ICMJE /VANCOUVER STYLE

[Author Last Name] [Author First/Middle Initial(s)]. [Title of the article]. [Name of the Journal] [Internet]. [Publication Date] [cited [Access date]];[Volume Number]([Issue Number]):[Page number starts]-[ends]. Available from: [URL] [Digital Object Identifier]

Example:

Craigr S, Deap D. Review on Nanoparticles [Internet]. 2003 Winter [cited 2019 Mar 26];14(4):68–72. Available from: <http://search.ebscohost.com/login.aspx?direct=true&db=bah&AN=11679726&site=ehost-live&scope=site> doi:10.1111/j.2003.00288.x

Style and language

International Journal of futuristic research in health sciences, can now only accept manuscripts written in English. Spelling should be US English or British English, but not a mixture. There is no explicit limit on the length of articles submitted, but authors are encouraged to be concise. IJFRHS will not edit submitted manuscripts for style or language; reviewers may advise rejection of a manuscript if it is compromised by grammatical errors. Authors are advised to write clearly and simply, and to have their article checked by colleagues before submission.

Abbreviations

Abbreviations should be used as sparingly as possible. They should be defined when first used and a list of abbreviations can be provided following the main manuscript text.

Typography

– Article should be typed with a Font: Times new Roman | Font size: 12

– Please use double line spacing

– Type the text unjustified, without hyphenating words at line breaks

– Use hard returns only to end headings and paragraphs, not to rearrange lines

– Capitalize only the first word, and proper nouns, in the title

– All pages should be numbered

– Footnotes are not allowed, but end notes are permitted

– Please do not format the text in multiple columns

– Greek and other special characters may be included If you are unable to reproduce a particular special character, please type out the name of the symbol in full. Please ensure that all special characters used are embedded in the text, otherwise they will be lost during conversion to PDF.

Copy right form

The Corresponding Author must download the IJFRHS copy right form should be filled and signed by Corresponding Author on behalf of all co-authors.